

This is "The Werribee Song."

The Werribee boys are happy,
The Werribee boys are we
The Werribee boys are very fine boys
At work and play, you see.
They never, never quarrel
And they never disagree,
For the motto of those Werribee boys,
Is one for all, you see.

C.B. Palmer.

Fine sentiments, but as you can guess, not all that close to reality, I'm afraid. Nevertheless, we did sing it at the sports meet and other occasions when opportunity presented itself. After all, the positive word is far more effective than the negative put-down.
