

Lemongrove Lodge

1980s – 2013

Other Names: • Lemongrove Lodge Transitional Youth Services.

Details

Lemongrove Lodge was established at Penrith by Sydney City Mission in the 1980s. It operated as a family group home. Sydney City Mission changed to Mission Australia in 1996, which in 2004 managed Lemongrove Lodge as Lemongrove Lodge Transitional Youth Services, a secure accommodation service for homeless youth aged 16 to 21. In 2013 Lemongrove Lodge was purchased by Platform Youth Services. It is unclear whether it is still being used to provide youth accommodation services.

Lemongrove Lodge is located in an historic house that was the centre of one of the earliest estates in Penrith. It is quite likely that this residence was used for youth purposes prior to the 1980s.

Buena Vista, Lemon Grove, Penrith

Description: Buena Vista is a two story Victorian villa and was built around 1885, as the home of Arthur Judges, a local chemist and prominent resident of Penrith. Judges was also a horticultural enthusiast and established what was claimed to be one of the best ferneries in NSW at Buena Vista. The property is now called Lemongrove Lodge, however it has also been known as Lemongrove Hall. This postcard is published by A. Judges, Penrith and bears a 1 penny New South Wales postage stamp.
