

New South Wales Society for Crippled Children

1929 – 1995

Other Names: • Northcott

Details

The New South Wales Society for Crippled Children was a charitable organisation that was founded by Rotary in 1929 to support children who suffered polio and tuberculosis. It ran the Margaret Reid Home and the Beverley Park Estate, as well as special schools and other residential facilities. The author May Gibbs gave a large part of her estate to this society. In 1995 the Society changed its name to Northcott Disability Services, which has been known simply as Northcott since 2012.

The New South Wales Society for Crippled Children purchased Cleveland House in 1958 from the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary who had used Cleveland House as a convent since 1946, having acquired it from the Good Samaritans. The Society for Crippled Children used Cleveland House and the four-storeyed building that had been the St Magdalen's Refuge as a hospital, clinic and administrative quarters. They sold the property in 1988.

The New South Wales Society for Crippled Children conducted a special school at Parramatta. In 2013 the Society, known as Northcott, was based in Parramatta.

Gallery

Children with polio at Margaret Reid Hospital, N.S.W. Society for Crippled Children, St. Ives

Description: This image shows children dancing around a maypole.

Exterior of Margaret Reid Hospital, N.S.W. Society for Crippled Children, St. Ives

Description: This image shows the grounds and the building of the Margaret Reid Orthopaedic Hospital for Crippled Children.

Cleveland House [from Chalmers Street]

Description: Photograph by Stewart Watters of Cleveland House

Cleveland House [from Bedford Street]

Description: Photograph by Stewart Watters of Cleveland House.

More info

Chronology

- New South Wales Society for Crippled Children (1929 – 1995)
 - Northcott (1995 - current)

Related Entries

Ran

- Margaret Reid Orthopaedic Hospital for Crippled Children \(1937 - 1981\)
- Beverley Park Estate \(1937 - 1998\)
- Belmont Crippled Children's Home \(1952 - 1979\)

Records

Records

- Records of Margaret Reid Orthopaedic Hospital for Crippled Children \(1937 - 1981\), Northcott
 - Records of the New South Wales Society for Crippled Children \(1929 - 1995\)
-

You can view this page online by visiting <https://www.findandconnect.gov.au/entity/new-south-wales-society-for-crippled-children/>