

Lovett Street Family Home

1968? – 2000

Other Names: • Specht Family Group Home

Details

The Lovett Street Family Home, in Rangeville, Toowoomba, was operated by the Presbyterian and Uniting Churches. It opened and was licensed in around 1968. Control was transferred to the Uniting Church on 22 June 1977. In around 2000, the property was sold to Rangeville Uniting Church.

A publication from 1968 stated that the purpose of Presbyterian family group homes in Queensland was:

to provide children, bereft of normal family living, with a home environment, controlled by substitute parents. Each home accommodates ten children. Children of all denominations accepted, but they attend Presbyterian worship.

The children are classified into normal family units and natural families of brothers and sisters are kept together. They are assimilated into local schools, churches and other community activities (Social Services Queensland, 1968, p.93).

More info

Related Entries

Run by

- Uniting Church in Australia \(1977 - current\)
Date: 1977 - 2000
- Presbyterian Church of Queensland \(1849 - current\)
Date: 1969 - 1977

Related Organisations

- Jellicoe Street Family Group Home \(1967 - 1994\)
The Jellicoe Street Family Group Home and Lovett Street Family Home were funded by a bequest from the Specht family, and were sometimes referred to as 'the Specht homes'.

Records

For more information and to access your records, follow the links below:

Records

- UnitingCare Queensland Records \(1910 - current\)
-

You can view this page online by visiting <https://www.findandconnect.gov.au/entity/lovet-street-family-home/>