

Dominican Sisters, South Australia

1868 –

Details

The Dominican Sisters belong to an order of nuns, priests and laity inspired by St Dominic , the founder of the order and St Catherine of Siena who is referred to as the co-founder. The Order was established in Europe in 1221. In 1868 the Bishop of Adelaide invited seven Dominican sisters from Cabra, a school in Ireland, to South Australia to open a convent and school, the Cabra Dominican Convent. This school included the Cabra Dominican Convent Boarding House.

More info

Related Entries

Ran

- Cabra Dominican Convent Boarding House \(1868 - 1999\)

You can view this page online by visiting <https://www.findandconnect.gov.au/entity/dominican-sisters-south-australia/>