Details

Carnarvon Teens Hostel was a hostel for around ten young people (male and female) in Carnarvon. It opened in 1968, and was part of the Carnarvon Mission that was run the Churches of Christ Federal Aborigines Mission Board (Inc). The hostel aimed to give young people from Carnarvon Mission (later, Ingada Village) an opportunity to live in the Carnarvon township while going to high school, or while they were working. It was located near the Christian Centre and church, and closed in the mid-1980s.

In 2014, a police and court complex was being constructed on the site of the Carnarvon Teens Hostel.
