

Milne Legacy House

1964 – 1975

Details

Milne Legacy House, in Strathfield, was run by Sydney Legacy. It was described by the Senate in 2005 as a “transition home for children including total orphans or children permanently or temporarily separated from their mothers”. It was designed for children ‘destined for institutions’ or ‘on discharge from them’ to be accommodated under Legacy’s care. It also provided temporary care for children “when the mother was hospitalised; when the child was sent to Sydney for medical treatment or while awaiting a final court decision in cases of neglect or some other offence not involving a criminal element” (Senate, 2005).

Gallery

Milne Legacy House, 33 Homebush Road, Strathfield

Description: This is a copy of a photograph of Milne Legacy House. The caption is: "Established 10 years ago as a transition home for junior Legatees from 6 to 16."

More info

Related Entries

Run by

- Sydney Legacy \(1925 - current\)
-

You can view this page online by visiting <https://www.findandconnect.gov.au/entity/milne-legacy-house/>